Reducing Pandemic Risk, Promoting Global Health

For the full report go to http://report.predict.global
The PREDICT Consortium was a functionally collaborative and fully integrated working team that benefited from the experience of world leaders in zoonotic disease surveillance, epidemiology, disease ecology, and risk characterization.

LEAD CONSORTIUM INSTITUTIONS FOR PREDICT

- UC Davis’ One Health Institute is active all over the world, working at the interface of animals, people, and the environment to solve complex problems that impact health and conservation.

- EcoHealth Alliance is the first group to identify bats as the reservoir of SARS-like coronaviruses, to define hotspots of emerging diseases, and identify drivers of disease emergence.

- Metabiota, Inc. (formerly known as Global Viral Forecasting, Inc.) has made seminal discoveries on the role of hunting of nonhuman primates and food handling in moving animal pathogens to humans.

- Smithsonian Institution and the National Zoo are among the founders of the field of conservation biology.

- Wildlife Conservation Society was the first conservation organization with a dedicated team of wildlife veterinarians deployed around the world, with programs focused on environmental stewardship and health problem-solving.

Other global partners include Columbia University; Boston Children’s Hospital’s HealthMap; International Society for Infectious Disease; and the University of California, San Francisco.
KEY PERSONNEL
Global Co-Director, Jonna AK Mazet, DVM, MPVM, PhD, is a Professor of Epidemiology and Disease Ecology and Executive Director of the One Health Institute at the University of California, Davis’ School of Veterinary Medicine.

Global Co-Director, Stephen S Morse, PhD, is a Professor of Clinical Epidemiology and Founding Director of the Center for Public Health Preparedness at Columbia University’s Mailman School of Public Health.

Technical Director, William B Karesh, DVM, is the Executive Vice President for Health and Policy for EcoHealth Alliance, and serves as the President of the World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) Working Group on Wildlife Diseases.

PREDICT EXECUTIVE BOARD
Consisting of the Key Personnel and the most senior representative of the core consortium, the Executive Board shaped the management of all activities and ensured that all countries received the support needed to achieve the objectives according to the USAID approved work plans.

- Jonna Mazet, University of California, Davis (UCD)
- Peter Daszak, EcoHealth Alliance (EHA)
- Nathan Wolfe, Metabiota (MB)
- William Karesh, EcoHealth Alliance (EHA)
- Stephen Morse, Columbia University (CU)
- Suzan Murray, Smithsonian Institution (SI)
- Damien Joly, Wildlife Conservation Society (WCS); moved to Metabiota late in project

PREDICT TECHNICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

External guidance was provided to the PREDICT Team by an expert Technical Advisory Committee. In addition to assessing PREDICT progress, this group of distinguished scientists reviewed activities and plans and advised on priorities, strategic focus, and broader partner collaboration.

- James Hughes, Professor, Emory School of Public Health and former Director US CDC’s National Center for Infectious Diseases
- Pierre Formenty, World Health Organization focal point and coordinator for Zoonotic Diseases and senior staff member of GOARN
- Mo D. Salman, Professor, Colorado State University College of Veterinary Medicine, extensive experience with building animal health epidemiology programs in severely challenged countries
- C.J. Peters, Professor, University of Texas Medical Branch, formerly of US Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases and Chief of CDC’s Special Pathogen Unit
- Lonnie King, Dean, College of Veterinary Medicine, The Ohio State University, formerly Director of CDC’s National Center for Zoonotic, Vector-Borne, and Enteric Diseases and previous Administrator USDA’s Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service
- James Childs, Senior Research Scientist, Yale University, formerly Chief of CDC’s Viral and Rickettsial Zoonoses branch and one of the world’s experts on bat-borne and rodent-borne diseases
- Donald Burke, Dean, University of Pittsburgh School of Public Health, formerly of John Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and US Walter Reed Army Institute of Research
