2016 Seminar Series

ALL SEMINARS UNLESS NOTED WILL NOW BE HELD AT THE CENTER FOR COMPARATIVE MEDICINE;
DOWNSTAIRS CONFERENCE, RM # 1008, 12:00PM - 1:00PM

 LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED FOR THOSE WHO ATTEND *****

Upcoming Seminars

6 September

Professor, Jay Solnick, M.D., PhD
School of Medicine, Department of Medical Microbiology & Immunology; School of Veterinary Medicine, Center for Comparative Medicine, University of California, Davis,
Present: “Why does Helicobacter pylori have a pathogenicity island? The bacterial perspective”

20 September

Professor, Stephen McSorley, PhD
School of Veterinary Medicine, Anatomy, Physiology & Cellular Biology; Center for Comparative Medicine, University of California, Davis,
Present: “T cells and intracellular bacteria”

27 September

Professor, Samuel T. Hwang, M.D., PhD
Chair of Dermatology; Department of Dermatology, University of California, Davis, Present:
"Murine models to explore the immunopathogenesis of cutaneous T cell lymphoma"