I’m very pleased to welcome Aaron Broadus as the newest member of the Student Programs team. Aaron comes to us from the School of Medicine at the University of Missouri where he has served as their Financial Literacy and Debt Management Counselor. Aaron provided financial aid advice and guidance to students for 3-years and has worked in the higher education arena for a total of 5-years. Aaron has developed an appreciation of the high debt-load of health sciences students. Aaron will work closely with the campus financial aid office and assist with our student’s financial aid eligibility and processing. He will also provide guidance on the School’s scholarship opportunities, and offer debt management counseling and planning. Aaron understands the worry and stress that financial issues provoke and will strive to assist our students to address their needs. He will be a great resource to our veterinary students both while in school and as they graduate and plan for the transition to the job market or advanced training. Aaron brings a strong financial aid and scholarships background to better help students connect with financial resources. You can reach him by phone at 530-752-9722 or by email at acbroadus@ucdavis.edu.

Aaron replaces Christine Milligan who served in this role for more than 17 years and retired in June 2011. Please join me in welcoming Aaron to the School of Veterinary Medicine.
