Phi Zeta Recognition
Phi Zeta is the honor society for veterinary medicine. It was founded in 1925 by a group of senior veterinary students in the New York State Veterinary College at Cornell University. Since then, 29 chapters have been installed. The aim of Phi Zeta is to stand for the constant advancement of the veterinary profession, for higher educational requirements, and for high scholarship. The object of the society is to recognize and promote scholarship and research in matters pertaining to the welfare and diseases of animals.
