A special place

The UC Davis campus is a beautiful hub of intellectual life, and the School of Veterinary Medicine has its own corner of the campus that is bordered by an arboretum and the campus stables.

The City of Davis is inclusive and fun. We have a charming farmer's market that tops many national lists. We have 60 miles of greenbelt—a continuous stretch of protected bike trails through shaded parks. And we have funky art galleries, shops, live music and bookstores.

Whether you live in Davis or one of the surrounding communities, you'll be a day trip away from the beach, snowy mountains, San Francisco, Silicon Valley and six national parks! The capital of California, Sacramento, is only 15 miles from Davis. Whether you're into skiing, museums, food, wine, technology, politics, big cities or wide open spaces, your interests are close to UC Davis.
