Planning a study

If you are planning a study that involves Clinical Diagnostic Laboratory testing, we can provide project planning assistance, sample submission requirements, and price quotes that will sustain the duration of your study.

- Information about available lab testing or price quotes can be obtained by submitting a Research Inquiry Form via fax or email.
- Available testing is listed on our website, in a searchable format.
- All hospital fees, including laboratory research fees, potentially increase at the start and midpoint of every fiscal year, July 1 and December 1. We highly encourage researchers to factor in price increases when planning for a multi-year study (~10% annually).

Ready to start a study?

To assist in accurate testing & billing, and to ensure that there are no delays in sample processing, we ask that all studies are registered with the laboratories one week prior to start date. To register a study, fill out and remit a Research Study Registration form, available on our website.

- University of California researchers: provide a valid grant number
- Non-UC researchers: include a billing address and contact phone number. A client account will be created from the information provided, if you do not already have one.

Sample Submission

- Research samples are accepted by Central Lab Receiving Monday – Friday, 8am-6pm PST, except university holidays. Samples received late in the day may not be processed until the following business day.
- Samples may be hand-delivered to VMTH Room 1033 or mailed to the address listed above. If mailing samples, please ship via overnight delivery Monday – Thursday only, as package delivery is not available on weekends.
- All samples must be accompanied by a Research Sample Submission form. Forms are stored with the laboratory and ensure that:
  - Samples are accurately tracked through the laboratory
  - Results are readily available, even months/years after sample submission
  - Any additional notes about sample processing and storage are accurately communicated
  - Post-analysis samples may be retrieved by the researcher

Billing & Fees

- Submissions to the Clinical Diagnostic Laboratories are billed through a VMTH client account. If you do not have a client account, one will be created upon Research Study Registration submission.
- Laboratory fees potentially increase at the start and midpoint of every fiscal year, July 1 and December 1. We highly encourage researchers to factor in price increases when planning for a multi-year study (~10% annually).
